> THE P. & O. steamer Kaisar i-Hind seems to be maintaining her reputation as one of the fastest mail-boats on the Indian and China lines. A correspondent, passenger. on board this fine vessel on her last downward trip, writes from Galle under date of 20th ultimo :- "We arrived here at four o'clock this afternoon after the shortest passage ever made. Our steaming time from Hongkong to this port was 9 days 7 hours (an average of 132 knots an hour), made up thus Hongkong to Singapore 4 days 7 hours, Singapore to Penang 1 day 4 hours, Penang to Galle 3 days 20 hours; total, 9 days 7 hours. The Kaisar is a strong and fast vessel, but not high enough by a couple of feat ; the sea has to be perfeetly smooth before the ports can be

> OUR Commercial readers, will note with pleasure the announcement in another column, by the E. E. A. and China Telegraph Co., that the lines to Penang, India, Europe, America, and Australasia are now kept open night and day. This cannot but be of great convenience to commercial men, considering how many of the elegrams sent here have to be dispatched from London late in the afternoon and are therefore receivable here after midnight, although only a couple of hours on the way. It will be noted that some other amountements are given in the same advertisement.

COMMISSARY F. C. P. Silveirs, Ordnance

Department, has retired from the service on full pay, and proceeded by the French mail steamer to-day to Europe. Mr Silveira's first commission bears date May 1857, but as he had previously served as Temporary Clerk in the Department from 1849, he thus has an extended service of over 30 years, the whole of which has been spent in China with the exception of between four and five years in Ceylon, from which station he returned in the latter end of 1871. Mr Silveira has witnessed many changes in the constitution of the Department in which he served, most notably that of the introduction of the Control system in 1869, when the care and custody of the War Department stores were smalgamated with those of the Supply and Transport duties of the Commissariat. During the existence of this arrangement Mr Silveira was twice called upon in China to take the supervision of this most unwieldy and unsatisfactory Department. Mr Silvelra was present at Shanghai during the Taiping rebellion in 1857 (medal), and was in Hongkong during the expedition to the North of 1860. He was at the head of the Department on its. severance from the Commissariat in 1876, and during the Perak expedition, when he received the thanks of the War Office authorities for the despatch with which munitions of war were forwarded to the field. Mr Silveira intends spending the first few months after his arrival in Europe in the warmer latitude of the south before venturing to the more bracing air of England, where he will probably arrive about June or July. Mr Silveira is succeeded in his charge of the stores in Hongkong by Deputy Commissary C. E. Vanittari, who was recently transferred to this station from Weedon. Colonel W. J. Stuart, lately Commanding

Boyal Engineer on this station, left for England in the French mail steamer to-day. His duties have been taken over by Major Papillion. Colonel Stuart has, during his command, more than once acted as Officer Commanding the Troops in Garrison, during the absence of the General, with a seat on $5 as a second prize. Conditions will be the Executive Council; and he has in other Acrostics I, to VI inclusive will count in energetic part which he took in temporari'v fortifying the Island during the Russian "scare," as well as of his work and plans in connection with the permanent defences. In this latter connection his advice will be of great value to the Royal Commission on Colonial Defences now sitting in England. The Colonel has now completed a second period of service in the China command, as his record goes back to the Canton war of 1856-58; in which he distinguished himself by leading the French storming party at the assault of the city, and received the thanks of the French Naval Commander in Chief (medal and brevet of major). The dates of Our readers will note that tickets for the his earlier commissions are Second Lieu. tenant, 10th Dec. 1849; First Lieutenant, 17th Feb. 1854; Captain, 20th Aug. 1858. We have to hand the initial number of the Californian, a new western monthly magazine issued for the people of the Pacific Slope. The platform the new literary venture takes its stand on is an admirable one. Keenly alive to the fact that there is on their own Coast the elements of a literature as strong, original and characteristic as the people themselves, the proprietors of this periodical state that they "have warmed it into life and nursed it on this its debut, to stand the exponent of our life and letters such as they now are and such as they may in time become."

In the language of its prospectus, and indicative of its name. The Californian will be thoroughly Western in its character, local to this coast in its flavor, representative and vigorous in its style and method of dealing with questions, and edited for a popular rather than a severely literary constituency.' It will not be a ponderous review, nor a political pamphlet, nor a budget for sentimental weaklings. It will not be found gasping for breath in the rarefied atmosphere of what the pedantic call "the upper plateau." It will not strive to please everybody; and if it does, it will be a failure. But it will reach out for merit in every available direction. It will do faithful prospecting in the range in which it is located. It will deal largely in common sense discussions, and, while appreclating the culture of the scholar and the sentiment of the poet, its strongest efforts will be put forth to gradually gather to its list of contributors those hard-headed and practical business men, who, in the active pursuit of their several professions and callings, have literally mined material that, if refined a bit in print, is always valuable, interesting, and marketable.

The contents of the present number are varied and of high excellence. We have spent a few hours over its pages with great pleasure and benefit, and can quite understand that this periodical will soon take a high stand amongst the many good magazines America produces. Whether we look to the heavier articles such as " the Pacific Coast and Gaodetic Survey," or to the light aketohes for which American literature hasteo great a name, the conductors show, by this number alone, that they have gathered around them a staff of admirable writers whose work will well support such a magazine. The magazine is capitally got up and sent out in first-class style by the A. Roman Publishing Coy., San Francisco.

THE L. & C. Express has the following notice relative to the death of M. W. von Pustau :--

We regret to note the death of Mr Wm. Pustau, who established the first German house in Canton and Hongkong in 1846. Up to 1860 he personally conducted a large | Lane, on the evening of the 28th January and successful business, when he returned last. to Hamburg and opened a branch house. In 1878 the firm was in difficulties and failed. The crushing defeat was too much for his health, and, we are sorry to add, drove him into a lunatic asylum, where he died on the 5th inst.

.The Hamburg correspondent of the same paper writes, Jan. 6:-

We have to report the death of an old. and—at least for the last years of his busy life-unhappy friend, Mr W. Pustau, the chief of the former well-known firm of Wm. Pustan and Co., at China, who died yesterday week at Schoeneberg, near Berlin, where he had retired to seek relief. Mr. Pustan, who held several offices in the magistracy of Altons, our neighbouring town, was only fifty-nine years of age. He well deserves a friendly remembrance from all that have known him in life.

SUPREME COURT. IN ADMIRALTY. (Before his Lordship Sir John Smale.)

Wednesday, Feb. 18.

RE " PULEW."

This was a case in which an action was brought by a junk against the China steamer Fuyew, for a collision which occurred recently in the Canton river. A motion was now made by Hon, the Acting Queen's Advocate, instructed by Mr Brereton, on behalf of the Impugnants, asking that all further proceedings herein should be stayed until the Promovent had given security for costs. Mr Hayilar, Q.c., instructed by Mr Dennys, appeared for the Promovent, and an order was male that security for $300 should be given. Au affidavit shewing that the Promovent's wife and brother were drowned and that the whole of the Promovent's property was destroyed by the collision, was read.

On the morning of the 1st Feb. the coolie secreted himself in the neighbourhood and watched the premises. He saw the two prisoners go to the door and do something to the look. They spened the door and went in. He followed them and found them with the property in their possession, as well as two bags. Each of the prisoners had a bag. He selad the first defendant but the second rushed downstairs, and was secured by Hung Asu, the master.

The jury, without waiting for His Lordship's summing up unanimously found both prisoners guilty.

The first prisoner pleaded for a light punishment as he had been in gaol before and had been ill ever since. The second prisoner pleaded for meroy.

The sentence of the Court was ten years' penalservitude on the first prisoner and three years' on the second. The first prisoner left the dock saying he would rather die than suffer such a long imprionment.

Loung Tai Ho was then charged with (1) larceny, (2) receiving stolen goods, in the harbour of Victoria in January last. The goods stolen were a boat, a quantity of fish and cooking utenails.

The prisoner pleaded guilty of stealing the boat, and a nolle proseque was entered on the second charge. The sentence of the Court was two years' penal servitude.

The Court then adjourned till 10. o'clock to-morrow morning. The Jurous engaged to-day were informod that they need not attend to-morrow.
